John 16:16-33

As I came closer to the time required to leave my mission assignment, I became concerned about the future. Where would I live? Would I have enough money for rent, for food, for utilities? How would I take care of my medical needs? I became overwhelmed with the unknowns as I focused on myself.

God's Word tells us to take heart. After much struggling, I turned the unknowns over to him and found the peace he had promised. When I returned to the United States, God provided a ministry position and enough money for a car, a comfortable home, and medical needs.

Paul was shipwrecked, beaten, ridiculed, tested by all means, and still demonstrated a life of peace. My friend was diagnosed with cancer, gave up her church position, stopped her job, was on chemo for two years, and still demonstrated a life of peace.

We will have trouble in this world; there is no doubt about it. But we have peace because he has overcome the world.
