1 John 1:1-10

Can you remember the last time you told a lie? What did you say? Whom you were attempting to deceive? Was it your spouse? Your friend? A teacher? Your parents?

Satan is the author of lies. he often does it through half-truths. Like a great magician, he has mastered the art of deception. He longs to train us to become the same.

God, however, desires that we awaken to the truth. "If we claim to be without sin, we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us" (v. 8). When we dismiss our need for a Savior to rescue us from sin, we are lying not just to each other but to ourselves.

Jesus has made a way for us to come out of sin and enjoy life in a whole new kingdom. It's a kingdom where truth reigns. Nothing is hidden and there is no more deception. It's incredibly freeing for everyone.

Have you confessed your need for your Savior today? Are there particular sins for which you need to repent? Confess it now to our Savior.
