02/21/14 - Importance of Waiting

RG 022114 AUDIO

John 5:16-30

Recently a pastor lost his partner of over 60 years. He and his wife had served in ministry together, day in and day out for nearly all the years of their married life. They told each other everything. They prayed together, they cried together, they ate together, they slept together, and life was about being together. The one who has been left behind is now grieving a terrible loss. His partner, the one who knew his every thought, desire and motivation is now gone. Why is this pain so great? Because, throughout the years that they were together the two had literally become one. They knew their thoughts without even having to speak. It is just this type of relationship, only deeper, that is found within the Father and the Son.

Jesus and His Father share the same passions and the same thoughts; they are one and the same. Therefore, if we know Jesus, we know the Father. We don't have to wait for heaven to meet the Father. Believe in Jesus today, and you believe in the Father today, and you will have eternal life.
