Deuteronomy 11:1-10

Each one of us can name great things that God has done in our lives. He has forgiven us our sins. He has provided for us even in impossible situations. He has made a way out when there was no way. He has healed, guided, and done absolutely miraculous things in and through our lives.

As we look at the world around us, we see many who are in great need of God. The question is: how will they know if no one tells them? The future generations need to hear the love our Father in heaven has for them. They need to hear the stories of how God has provided. They need to hear how faithful He is. We must share what we know and have experienced.

Ask yourself these questions:

1. What is different in my life because of salvation? Who have I told my testimony to this week?
2. What blessings have I received this week? Who can I share them with?
3. Who needs to hear the stories of how I have witnessed God move?
