Psalm 68:28-35

Invitations are a common part of special events. Perhaps you have received an invitation to attend a wedding, a loved one's birthday party, or even to attend an event to honor a deserving individual. Regardless of the type of invitation we receive, they make us feel included and wanted. Today's scripture is an invitation of the greatest importance. Christ is seeking all unbelievers to join His church before it is too late.

It doesn't matter how old you are, where you are from, if you are rich or poor, or if you have the right pedigree; God wants everyone! It doesn't even matter how unbelievers are saved, just that they accept Christ. Some may come to Christ through worry or fear, while others may come to Him by their heart being pulled towards Him, it doesn't matter; God wants everyone!

Once a child of God then all sins are forgiven. His children will praise Him and extol His name. He will pour out His might power over all His children.
