

Lost With a GPS

Description

RG200710

It happened again. I put the directions on my GPS and still got lost. “Why does this continue to happen?” I asked my wife. “This thing just doesn’t work.” She laughed and said, “You zigged when you should have zagged.” The truth is, I didn’t follow the directions exactly.

How often have we been told, “Just follow the directions”? This sounds easy, but it’s not. Especially when we think we know a shortcut or a better route. We have it all figured out, and then we end up on the same dead-end street all over again.

Following directions is a matter of trust. Do we trust the navigating system? Do we trust the person giving us directions? What would it mean to trust God so fully that we follow God’s directions exactly? God’s Positioning System – We’re assured of going the right way. Trust God where He leads; He’s not broken.

Date Created

2010/07/20

The Foundry Publishing