Mark 4:35-41

Imagine for a moment you are one of the disciples of Christ. The storm hits, you begin to sink, and you don't know what to do. Can you imagine the desperation, the fear, the confusion?

And yet, the disciples learned an important lesson that day. With one word, Christ's commands altered the course of nature. The great windstorm subsided, the waters calmed, and hope was restored. The Messiah they thought they were looking for (the political power that would overthrow Rome), apparently, was so much more. Even the wind and the seas obeyed Christ's command!

When you find yourself frustrated or disappointed at the direction God is leading you remember: He is not only whatever He seems to be to our frail, human eyes. He is so much more. He is God, the Almighty, the maker of heaven and of earth. And He is in control. God is on His throne. He is still God. Learning to trust His ways, not our expectations, is the only thing that will bring everlasting peace.
