

Power of the Spirit

Description

Acts 11:11-18

Jesus comes to transform our lives through the grace, mercy, and power of the resurrection. He literally makes us a new creation ready for heaven. At Pentecost the Holy Spirit was released within the hearts of those transformed believers in a powerful new wave of God to expand, blossom, and change those disciples into something beautiful and alive.

The Jews that had assembled in Jerusalem experienced the incredible outpouring of the Spirit into their lives. You cannot limit God! When Peter went into the house of the gentile Cornelius (Acts 10), the same thing happened: The Holy Spirit fell in power on those assembled individually. They were filled to overflowing with the Spirit in their lives. God continually sends His Spirit to empower everyone who waits on Him no matter nationality, language group, social status, or financial footing.

I don't ever want to hold back the dynamic power of the Holy Spirit but be a conduit for Him to work through!
