

Right On Time

Description

Esther 4:9-17

A couple of years ago, I decided to become a substitute teacher in my local community school. It was a great way to support my local school. It was a whirlwind of schooling for me as I jumped into the role.

One of my most memorable takeaways from my time as a substitute was the importance of time. To be more precise, follow the schedule to the minute. You see, I fall in the category of people who are “late” if they aren’t early. I would show up to every college class 10 minutes before the start time. I cannot arrive on time and feel like I am on time. I need to be ahead of time.

That doesn’t work in the classroom. I discovered this when I brought my second-grade class down to the art room and arrived five minutes before the official scheduled time. I was way too early and the teacher was finishing with another class. Teachers, I learned, mean exactly the time they schedule. Not a minute more or less.

God is on time, every time. While it may not feel like it to us, God is never late or too early. God is on time. Trust His timing.
