

Life-Giving Bread

Description

John 6:25-34

Distractions, speed bumps, interruptions, detours, squirrels, and shiny objects all have one thing in common. They can keep us from focusing on what really matters.

Jesus fed the 5,000, avoided a forced coronation, walked on water, and called it a day. In the meantime, the crowd Jesus had just fed came looking for another meal. They came looking for another handout. They demanded Jesus show them miracles and prove His identity . . . while questioning His command of history. They felt entitled.

We get it. We can get distracted by the 30-second video or the five-second soundbite. We catch a glimpse of something we like and weâ??re stuck thinking itâ??s what we â??need.â?• That was the crowdâ??s perspective problem.

Like them, we think we need a quick fix, a little dose of life. In reality, we need more than a spiritual snack to hold us over. We need eternal life. Jesus teaches that He is the source of more than what we think we need. Heâ??s the life-giving bread that satisfies our real needs forever.

Author: Chad Garinger

Date Created

2025/02/24