

Never Forget

Description

John 6:44-59

Typewriters, Rolodexes, rotary phones with 10-foot twisted cords, color-coded wall calendars, and strings tied around fingers are all tools of yesteryears used to remind us of the important things we may have otherwise forgotten. Now we all have smart phones and smart watches, reminders on our wrists and in our pockets that make sure we are alerted to the “important” things we are supposed to remember.

Communion serves as a reminder of one of the most important events of all time: Christ’s sacrifice for us.

Jesus instituted the Eucharist to remind His true believers how God proved His love for us. He gave clear warnings for those who receive it to first examine themselves so as not to minimize the memory of Christ’s sacrifice. God wants us to remember the torture, agony, and heartache He endured for us. When we receive the elements of Communion, we remember what He did for us. Let’s never forget the all-time most important expression of love.
